State of New Mexico

Susana Martinez Governor

To the People of New Mexico:

Today, as I submit my seventh budget as Governor of the great State of New Mexico, I reflect on the many challenges we've endured in just six years. In my first year, we faced a $450 million structural deficit — the largest in state history. We cut the oversized government, found efficiencies, and did not raise taxes. In subsequent years, we overcame federal budget cuts, sequestration, and a federal government shutdown that severely impacted state revenues. Now, state revenues have been hit by the steepest crash in oil and gas prices in our time.

But each time, we've risen to the challenge — all while protecting classroom spending, healthcare for the most vulnerable, economic development initiatives, and the public safety of all New Mexicans. The budget I submit today confronts our challenges. It closes the current budget deficit caused by the oil and gas crash, and it does it without raising taxes. It protects classroom spending, healthcare, economic development initiatives, and public safety.

For far too long, our state has been too reliant on the energy industry. In fact, oil and gas revenues fund more than one-third of state government. During the year-and-a-half period of oil price uncertainty, New Mexico saw $5.5 billion in lost value in the oil and gas industry and a loss of more than 11,300 jobs in the industry. Over the same time, however, we saw a net increase in the number of jobs overall. Our state's reserves – which we have maintained at over 5 percent since I took office and reached 10 percent in Fiscal Year (FY) 2015 – helped soften the blow. Our budget shortfalls are not as large as several other oil-producing states. However, we have a lot of work to do and I'm committed to continue fighting to rein in state government spending.

In the summer of 2016, I called the legislature into special session to address the budget shortfall in FY16 and to make adjustments to FY17 in order to avoid what is currently facing us. Prior to that session, I ordered each of my agencies to reduce their budgets. While I commend the legislature's work in closing out FY16, they left several important opportunities on the table that could have solved our deficit in FY17. While millions of dollars in projects were cut and program resources pared down, difficult decisions were avoided.

For example, lawmakers refused to sweep even a portion of the excess discretionary dollars not spent in the classroom. Lawmakers could have taken less than half of the quarter of a billion dollars and left school districts with the amount they are advised to maintain. Instead, they gutted $22 million in classroom spending and programs designed to identify and assist struggling schools and students – funding that provides meals to our students in poverty, that place in-demand social workers in middle schools, cover the costs of advanced placement (AP) exams and Preliminary SAT fees, and offer strategic pay increases to our state's top performing teachers. At a time when our kids are closing the achievement gap and are showing progress in all measures of proficiency as a result of these reforms, we cannot abandon them in order to preserve administrative funds for bureaucrats.

Furthermore, the legislature chose not to contribute $10-12 million of the excess funds in their legislative retirement fund. They allowed certain local governments to continue double-dipping taxpayer dollars. They didn't address the adverse impacts of the prevailing wage laws on the costs of state infrastructure projects. And they left untouched duplicative and redundant health care coverage, despite millions of state dollars going toward it with no gain.

Had they adopted these and other measures during the special session, we would not be facing a $67 million shortfall for the current fiscal year (FY17). If the legislature had done more than raid reserves and make minor adjustments, current reserve levels would be at least $158.6 million or 2.5 percent.

By addressing our current shortfall through responsible cuts, sweeps, and reforms, we can build reserves and maintain our strong bond ratings – allowing us to continue funding much-needed infrastructure projects across the state.

The FY18 Executive Budget Recommendation submitted today keeps my promise to you, the citizens of New Mexico. We are making targeted budget cuts that protect classroom spending, preserve economic development initiatives, and maintain our efforts to keep New Mexicans safe. It also protects funding for our most vulnerable — like the developmentally disabled and victims of domestic violence or sexual assault. Other areas of government will continue the reductions provided for during the special session and some will be able to be reduced further. But we must reduce government as a whole. I am proposing government restructuring to find savings and efficiencies. I am proposing tax reforms that modernize and simplify the tax code.

Moving forward, I am confident that the legislature and the executive will work together for the benefit of all New Mexicans, that we will all support classroom spending, the continued diversification of our economy, and our continued efforts to improve public safety throughout our state.

Sincerely,

Martiner Susana Martinez

Governor

OVERVIEW OF EXECUTIVE RECOMMENDATION

This seventh Executive Budget Recommendation put forth by the Martinez Administration for the 2018 fiscal year (FY18) proposes General Fund spending of slightly more than $6 billion, maintaining the reductions made during the Fall 2016 special legislative session, providing for a few, targeted reductions where appropriate and increasing funding for Medicaid. However, given the December Consensus Revenue Estimating Group (CREG) forecast projecting a reserve level of -$66.8 million for the current fiscal year (FY17), it is essential that the Administration address solvency for FY17 first. Our financial situation is due primarily to the largest oil and gas price crash in recent history. Other oil and gas producing states are feeling a similar, if not harsher, impact from this crash. The National Association of State Budget Officers' annual spending survey indicated that half of all states saw revenues come in lower than budgeted in fiscal year 2016, with nearly as many (24) experiencing weak revenue conditions carrying into fiscal year 2017. This marks the highest number of states falling short since 2010 when 36 states saw budget shortfalls.

Fiscal Year 2017 Solvency

The overall proposal of the Administration for FY17 solvency is to achieve about $268.5 million in non-recurring sweeps and swaps (many of which were proposed during the special session but not acted upon) and $59 million in recurring items to cover the projected shortfall of $66.8 million and increase reserves.

The proposal includes sweeping less than half of the excessive fund balances within our school districts that are not being used in the classrooms; sweeping a portion of the legislature's vastly overfunded retirement fund as well as sweeping various cash and fund balances from across state government. It also includes using the state's long-term severance tax bond capacity of approximately $62 million for public school projects in order to free up that same amount in taxable bonds to shore up the state's reserves.

On the recurring side, the proposal would increase the reduction in FY17 for the legislature and higher education, from 3% and 5% respectively, to the 5.5% cut that was made to the majority of state agencies. Similar to what was passed in 2011 in order to prevent deeper reductions that would have resulted in furloughs, salary reductions and reductions in force, the proposal calls for increasing the employee match by 3.5% to fund the state's generous retirement program. Other measures include reducing the gross receipts tax "hold harmless" distribution to those counties and municipalities that have already imposed tax increases on their citizens, along with eliminating some tax credits for health insurers due to assessments from the New Mexico Medical Insurance Pool and prohibiting assessments by the New Mexico Health Insurance Exchange to the Medicaid program. It requests that counties increase their distribution to the County Supported Medicaid Fund by 1/16th. Because Medicaid expansion has taken on almost all of their indigent population, the outdated system requires adjustment to avoid wasteful redundancies. As of June 30th, total balances in county indigent funds were at $31.5 million, with three counties having an additional $8.5 million from these funds in various investments.

The FY17 solvency proposal includes simple, modernizing language to the tax code that creates efficiencies in the collection and enforcement of taxes. As a result of modernizing language, additional revenue is generated to the state without raising taxes.

If the legislature acts quickly on FY17 solvency, these measures in the Administration's proposal would eliminate the negative reserve balance and leave the state with a projected FY17 reserve balance of 4.23%. The state would then be able to provide the funding for essential supplemental and special appropriations that total $31 million listed on pages 29 and 30.

Fiscal Year 2018 Framework

Overall, the framework for the Administration's FY18 budget proposal is to take into account a full year's recurring impact from the recurring measures provided for in the FY17 solvency proposal and also develop some new restructuring plans that could lead to an additional $16 million in savings. These would include reorganizing several state agencies, along with the consolidation of human resources functions into one centralized department. All of these measures, taken for a full year, would have a recurring impact of $240 million. This would cover recurring expenditures and allow for an additional $77.9 million to be placed in reserves. The projected FY18 reserve level would then be 5%.

Of the 55 Executive agencies that receive General Fund appropriations, 49 of them took a 5.5% reduction for the current fiscal year and that reduction remains in place in this FY18 recommendation. A few agencies will be able to handle some additional reductions through vacancy savings and other cost saving measures.

Of the six agencies not experiencing the 5.5% reduction, the recommendations are as follows: the non-Medicaid portion of the Human Services Department is reduced by 2.5% (the same level as special session action), while Corrections, Children, Youth and Families, and Veterans Services Departments have modest increases. The Department of Health requested a reduction of about 1% to be applied to the funding of the facilities management division due to better leveraging of Medicaid and other state funds.

K-12 Public School Support: This budget recommendation does not reduce funding for public school support. Exclusive of funding for the Public Education Department, total General Fund recommended for public school support is $2.67 billion, which simply reflects the reductions taken during the special session of $37.8 million in the equalization guarantee, $30 million in transportation and instructional materials, and $4.5 million ordered by the Governor to the various classroom reforms this Administration has put forward. Public school capital outlay funds will flow to transportation and instructional materials to make up for the reductions in General Fund. The Administration is confident that this level of funding is adequate to keep moving our schools and students forward on a path to success.

Medicaid: The recommendation provides a total General Fund increase for Medicaid of $26 million, the majority of which is due to continued enrollment growth and decreasing federal match for the adult expansion population. While enrollment growth has slowed recently, the Human Services Department projects 920,000 New Mexicans will be enrolled by the end of FY17, of which about 265,000 are in the adult expansion population. This expansion has contributed to a significant decrease in the uninsured rate in New Mexico, bringing it to a historic low of about 10%.

Despite enrollment growth, the Medicaid reforms implemented under Centennial Care, with the continued emphasis on improving outcomes for Medicaid participants, have reduced the rate of growth in costs in Medicaid. For calendar year 2015, Centennial Care costs were 13% less than the budget set by the five-year state-federal waiver agreement. In addition, medical and administrative costs are lower on a per capita basis, with per capita costs in the most recent 12-month period 1% lower than the previous 12 months, well below regional and national health care inflation rates of 3%-6% on average.

In FY17, the department, as required by the General Appropriations Act, implemented several Medicaid cost containment efforts. To date, the department has reduced Managed Care Organization contracts, reduced provider rates and rescinded previous provider rate increases. The department is pursuing additional federal funding for services to Native Americans, in collaboration with the Indian Health Service and tribal governments, and is proposing reasonable co-pays for higher income individuals in Medicaid. These changes should further reduce the need for additional General Fund appropriations for FY18.

Department of Public Safety: During the special session, the Administration was able to ensure that there were no reductions to this department. While the tables in this document show a reduction of almost $1 million, that reduction is a transfer of funds associated with the maintenance of the public safety facilities in Santa Fe to the General Services Department. There are no reductions to any of the department's core programs and the agency will be able to maintain its high standards of protecting the public.

Corrections: The Corrections Department faced a 1.5% reduction during the special session and is struggling with that reduction. The department requires a $10 million special appropriation for use in FY17 and FY18 to cover costs associated with inmate population growth, treatment of prisoners with Hepatitis C, and transitional living services.

This recommendation supports that special appropriation and an increase of $4.5 million in the FY18 budget to cover costs associated with medical and pharmaceutical contracts, provision of behavioral health services, and radio communications.

Children, Youth and Families Department: The budget recommendation for CYFD shows an increase of almost $4.5 million; however, more than $2.8 million is actually a transfer of that amount from the Department of Finance and Administration (DFA). DFA had a $70.8 thousand appropriation for a domestic violence contract and $2.8 million for two youth mentoring contracts that are more appropriately placed within CYFD. There is an additional $1.5 million to early childhood services as a result of a change in a portion of the distribution of out-of-state oil and gas withholding taxes from the legislative retirement fund to CYFD for child abuse prevention.

Public Employees: As in 2011, this recommendation provides for a 3.5% shift in the employer contribution to the employee for the state's two retirement systems. The state provides a very robust benefits package to its employees, particularly within health care and retirement benefits. New Mexico's employer contributions are some of the highest in the country and the highest in our region (compared to Arizona, Colorado, Oklahoma, Utah, and Texas), at 11.65% for the educational retirement system and 16.99% for the public employees retirement system. Even with this shift, the state's contribution would rank second-highest in the region for public employees and third for educational employees.

The decision to move forward with this shift was not an easy one but is far preferable to additional across-the-board cuts proposed by the legislature which simply lead to reductions in force, permanent salary reductions and/or furlough days.

Capital Outlay Priorities

The Martinez Administration continues to take steps to reform the capital outlay process in New Mexico. In 2016, the Department of Finance and Administration collaborated with the Legislative Finance Committee, New Mexico Association of Counties and the New Mexico Municipal League to identify improvements to capital outlay processes in New Mexico. This working group has developed Best Practices and Guidelines, has drafted proposed improvements to the authorizing language in capital outlay legislation, has discussed ways to streamline processes and documentation that will provide information from the introduction of a capital project to the issuance of bonds and is currently discussing other administrative process improvements.

Governor Martinez is proposing legislation again to improve New Mexico's capital outlay system. The legislation would create a Capital Outlay Planning Division within the Department of Finance and Administration, leverage existing oversight bodies to govern a unified review and recommendation process for capital projects, while maintaining the independent appropriating power of the Legislature. Through enactment of this legislation, scarce funding for New Mexico's substantial infrastructure needs can be targeted to shovel-ready projects that will result in a high rate of return on taxpayer dollars. After adjusting for actions taken in the 2016 special legislative session, a total of $61.7 million of senior Severance Tax Bond (STB) funding is expected to be available for new capital projects during the 2017 regular legislative session. STB funding is derived from oil and natural gas revenues, which have declined significantly in recent years. History shows that the largest single category of use for senior STB capacity is for local capital projects, followed by higher education institutions and finally state agencies. Governor Martinez proposes that earmarks for water, tribal, and colonias infrastructure programs be suspended for one year to free up limited capacity for critical capital needs such as water rights settlements and acquisitions, water rights adjudication, public safety and economic development initiatives.
